Look at that beautiful drawing! The colours are so pretty, and I think you're a little DaVinci. Why don't you show it to grandma when she arrives?

I think I've reached a point in my life where I need to focus more on discovering who I really am. Don't get me wrong - it isn't about you. I just need more time with myself. I'm sure you'll find someone more suited to your personality and character.

It's not that he doesn't buy me flowers. He does, but when it happens, I feel it's like he buys them because he feels I expect him to buy them. And I'd rather he bought them because he wanted to buy them.

OK, you've drawn something. I don't know what this is.
But I love you. Now, go to your room.

It's over. And yes, it is about you.

Life is OK and I don't really have any major problems.

CRITICAL THINKING

FIRST LAUGH, THEN THINK!

A A group called Improbable Research celebrates unusual research by giving out Ig Nobel prizes. These are given annually to scientists whose work is funny and different. The aim is to make people aware of scientific investigation which 'makes people laugh, but then makes them think'. Only work that has been published in a serious scientific journal can win. Here are some past winners.

TIME TO SAY GOODBYE

It was great talking to you.

We could talk some more if we had more time.

I hope to see you again.

Thank you.
