Chuseok:

Korea's Harvest Festival

Who can weave the most cloth? Two teams have a contest to find out. They weave and weave for a whole month!

It is the night of the full moon. The king comes. "This team wins!" he says. The prize is a big feast for both teams. Some people say this is the beginning of the Chuseok holiday.

Today, the festival of Chuseok is still an important holiday in Korea. It is at the end of summer. It lasts three days. People always go home for the festival. They spend time with their families. They want to celebrate and give thanks for the food from the harvest.

Why do people all around the world celebrate the harvest?

C Think and discuss. When is the harvest in your country? What foods are ready? How do people celebrate?

Our harvest is in the fall. Apples, corn, and potatoes are ready.

Now read First Harvest

First Harvest

Harvest time is here. The family works hard on the farm. They dig up vegetables. They pick fruit.

"I'm worried. It's hard for plants to grow here. There isn't much water," says Dad.

What do you think the setting is?

"I don't believe it! These carrots are beautiful," says Dad.

Why is the family so happy about the harvest?

There are pink potatoes and purple corn. There are tomatoes with red and green stripes. There is a red pineapple. There are orange peas.

"We have a lot of food!" says August.

"And we worked hard for it," says Dad. "Thank you!"

“How can we celebrate?” asks Mom.
 “I know, let’s get everyone together. We can have a feast!” says Ruth.

“That’s a great idea,” says Dad. “This is our very first harvest, after all.”
 “I want to make an apple pie,” says Mom.
 “You two can help.”

“Can we go outside and play first?” asks Ruth. “Please?”

“Oh, all right,” says Dad.

“Check your space suits before you go,”
Mom says. “And make sure you have a lot of air.”
“We will!” say August and Ruth.

A space suit is the

Why do we celebrate harvests?

A Think and write. Compare and contrast the two harvest stories in this unit.

What's the Same?	What's Different?
They both have families.

B Think and discuss. Imagine you are a farmer. Make a table about your harvest and your celebration. Do a Think, Pair, Share.

Our harvest has ...
Our celebration has ...

For our harvest, we pick apples.
For our celebration, we dance.
