AUDIOSKRYPT

Track 01

Text 1.

- Mum: Ben, I'm cooking some soup and I need a few things from the shop. Could you help me out?
- Ben: OK. What do you need, mum?
- Mum: Let me think ... I need two onions and a dozen eggs. I still have some carrots left, so it's fine. I'm going to need some potatoes as well – five or six will be enough.
- Ben: Anything else? Any fruit?
- Mum: Wait ... no. I thought I might need some tomatoes, but I've got plenty.

Text 2.

- Man: Can I help you?
- Woman: Yes, I'd like to go to the TV Tower to get a good view of the city, but I'm not sure if it's open today. Could you check it for me, please?
- Man: No problem. Let me see ... Oh, I'm sorry, it is closed on Mondays.
- Woman: Oh ... is there any place here that I could go to get a panoramic view of the city?
- Man: Why don't you try the tower in St Paul's Church? There's a great view from there and it's only two bus stops away.
- Woman: Thanks. Bye!

Text 3.

- A: What did you do at the weekend, Mary?
- B: Well, I went to the mall to pick up a few bargains.
- A: Oh, you mean the sales. Did you buy anything interesting?
- B: Just a few things, some clothes and cosmetics. They were all thirty per cent off so I didn't spend too much money.
- A: Really? So maybe I'll go tomorrow, too.

Text 4.

Hi, Anna, I'm calling to let you know that Tom's birthday party is cancelled. He didn't come to school today, so we thought he was ill or something. But then he sent Mark a text message that his sister broke her leg and that he is at the hospital with her. Now we need to tell everyone so that nobody goes to his house. Let me know when you get this message.

Track 02

- A: So, is there any other homework we need to do for tomorrow?
- B: No, only French and geography.
- A: Oh, I've just finished geography.
- B: How come you did this task so quickly? I haven't found the right map.
- A: Look! I've got a new application on my smart phone with all sorts of maps. It's really useful in doing geography homework.
- B: Wow! Did you pay for it?
- A: No, I downloaded it completely for free. The only problem is that it takes up quite a lot of memory.
- B: Oh, that will be a problem for me. I will have to get rid of some silly games or old music.
- A: I think it's really worth it. It's a great help – opening up the app is so much easier than looking for the map in a book. Here, let me show you how it works before mum calls us for dinner.

Track 03

- Jane: I think we're almost ready here, Tom. We just need to decide who is organising which activity.
- Tom: OK, so we've got the basketball game between second and third-graders and the fitness class for all volunteers. Have you thought about who should do what, Jane?
- Jane: I have and I think John should deal with the basketball match preparations – he did it last year so he knows exactly what to do.
- Tom: Great idea! How about Mary? Shall we ask her to deal with the fitness club?
- Jane: Well, she's already volunteered to organise the dance lesson. Plus, I thought I could handle the fitness section – it's my favourite activity in this whole event.
- Tom: Sure, go ahead, Jane. So shall I do the mini golf, then?
- Jane: I actually wanted to skip it this year. Nobody wanted to play it last year. Have you got any idea what we could do instead?
- Tom: If you want a popular sport, let's choose cycling – I can organise a race, if that's OK with you.
- Jane: Perfect! I think we've got it!
